“HOUSING FOR ALL AND ITS FUTURE IN SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT”

PREAMBLE :

The "Housing for All" concept is a global initiative that aims to ensure that everyone has access to safe, adequate, and affordable housing. This vision is closely associated with the broader goals of sustainable development, which strikes a balance between economic, social, and environmental factors in order to promote the well-being of present and future generations.

KEY TAKEAWAYS FOR PARTICIPANTS :

- Adapting housing policies to changing demographics and urbanization trends.
- Promoting positive community dynamics within high-rise developments.
- Assessing the durability and life cycle of materials to reduce waste and promote long-term sustainability.
- Enhancing community resilience and preparedness for man-made disasters.
- Fostering social cohesion and a sense of belonging in neighborhoods.
- Improving living conditions in slums through data-driven insights.
- Adapting housing designs to accommodate remote work trends.
