Research is to be understood as original investigation undertaken in order to gain knowledge and understanding. Research is a systematic, vigorous investigation of a situation or problem in order to generate new knowledge or validate existing knowledge. It is a pivot for many emerging questions and plays a critical role for furtherance of knowledge for the discipline and profession. Research in architecture is gaining prominence and significance, in the current developments, pertaining to both pedagogy and professional application, specifically in the area of built environment. Although the dominance of architecture has infinite research possibilities and offers wide scope of inter disciplinary research, it has yet not been explored extensively.

Key Themes: Types of research in Architecture, Tools and techniques of Research selecting areas of Research in Architecture, Documentation and report writing.
